

The Sunspots

Well I am told the May rally was good and everybody enjoyed themselves. However I have received no report or pictures so this is about all I can say about it as I am in WA state. We can't make every rally so someone from each rally should be assigned to write the report of the rally, even when we do make the rallies it is always nice to have a guest editor. Next month I hope to have advance info on the next few rallies and all the contact info if the Rally masters will please send me the information, HINT HINT.

We have a Sun Chasers web site thanks to our new web master Robert Bluhm. The web site is arizonasunchasers.info, Please visit the site and checkout the hard work that has been put into it.

Last month's winners are: Bob Bluhm and Howard Madden. The correct answer was the Chapel of the Holy Cross. It sits in a most peaceful setting within picturesque Sedona Arizona. The Chapel of the Holy Cross is a compelling Sedona landmark that was built in 1956 to the design of Marguerite Brunswig Staude, a student of world-renown architect Frank Lloyd Wright. The strikingly beautiful structure is jointly owned by The Roman Catholic diocese of Phoenix and Saint John Vianney Parish of Sedona Arizona.

Sedona and Oak Creek Canyon attracts over 4 million visitors annually that flock to this vacation haven of amazing natural elegance. Sedona has become a center of mysticism and new age prophets that are attracted to vortex experience in and around Sedona. The Chapel of the Holy Cross is a popular attraction of all faiths and sits near its own unique vortex where it overlooks the incredible horizon below.

The Chapel rises two-hundred feet above ground surface between two red rock formations that accentuate its 90-foot tall cross. A massive stained glass window turns the Chapel's interior into a kaleidoscope of brilliant color. There are no Mass services at the Chapel, but brief Evening Prayer Service is held each Monday at 5 p.m.

The towering cross and incredible panoramic views of red rock horizons deeply move visitors with spiritual enhancement. The Chapel is a great place of inspiration and reflection.

The Chapel is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM and on Sunday from 10:00 AM to 5:00 PM. The Chapel has a gift shop where unique religious articles, unusual crosses and rosaries created of native stone are available. No services are held here, but it provides an ideal setting for spiritual reflection and prayer as well as incredible views of the Red Rocks. Admission is free, but donations are appreciated.
